

ABSTRACT

Capsules made of gellan gum and a polyvalent salt and having various flavours and colours are provided in a flexible gelatin and carragheenan gel, of which the appearance differs from that of ordinary gelatin, by suspending the capsules having various flavours and colours in a gel medium by adjusting the process variables and formulation to prevent colour and flavour migration into the gel medium.